

[FIG2] The initial knowledge of the system at time $t = 0$. The red Gaussian distribution represents the pdf providing the initial confidence in the estimate of the position of the train. The arrow pointing to the right represents the known initial velocity of the train.